WHY SHOULD YOU SEND YOUR COMPLIANCE TEAM TO THE RESTRICTED SUBSTANCE & PRODUCT COMPLIANCE FORUM?

Assent Compliance has gathered regulatory and materials management thought-leaders for a one-day conference to be held in Chicago. The agenda for this conference will include a deep dive into materials management and full material disclosure issues. Conference attendees will hear first-hand from industry leaders as well as their own peers throughout this day of education and insight sharing.

By funding your team to attend this conference, you are making a commitment to excellence and contributing to a culture of success within your compliance department. Your team will gain the insights and skills needed to build, or improve upon, your compliance programs.

WHAT WILL YOU LEARN?

The compliance environment is changing. In order to help your team navigate this evolving landscape, they will receive information on various national and international materials management regulations across a range of verticals. Topics include:

- IPC-1752A and IPC-1754 development
- Understanding materials management in 2017
- How to build your technical file
- Increasing response rates and reducing friction in your supply chain
- RoHS exemptions
- China RoHS
- REACH SVHCs
- Deploying your FMD program
- And more...

Our team attended an Assent Compliance conference earlier this year...to increase our overall knowledge & understanding of certain key regulations. We were very satisfied with the results.

— Holly Baxter, Integrator Parts Coordinator, TMEIC

A CORPORATE INVESTMENT IN YOUR TEAM THAT YIELDS IMMEDIATE RETURNS

Peers are often your best resource. With that in mind, attendees will participate in breakout sessions where they will learn to leverage the best practices and valuable advice of expert speakers and peers.

This is an incredible opportunity to engage with a dynamic group of compliance professionals. Attendees will leave with new ideas that will have an immediate, positive impact on your compliance program, and a network of colleagues dealing with the same issues and concerns.
